

Training on Simulation & Gamification as Teaching Methodology

Salim Habib University, in collaboration with Sindh Higher Education Commission (SHEC), hosted a specialized training session on “Simulation & Gamification as Teaching Methodology” on 19 May, 2025. The session aimed to promote innovative, interactive, and technology-driven teaching practices that enhance student engagement and learning outcomes.

Participants explored how simulation tools and game-based learning strategies can support experiential learning across different academic disciplines. The training brought together faculty from both public and private universities, offering hands-on activities, practical demonstrations, and expert guidance on integrating these methods into academic curricula.

